

Thanks to the 2020 Kansas Ag Heroes!

Keri Harris

I would like to nominate Franklin County Conservation District's District Manager, Keri Harris, as a Kansas Ag Hero! Keri is deserving of this award as she has been sewing masks for anyone who asks during the COVID-19 pandemic. According to her Facebook status, she has sewn 400+ masks, letting people choose fabric, style and size. Keri donates these masks to anyone who is in need. That makes her a true Kansas Ag Hero!!

Keri is well-known in her county, as well as throughout Kansas, for her steadfast promotion of agriculture, conservation and environmental education. She is the president-elect of the Kansas Association for Conservation and Environmental Education (KACEE). Keri and her family are intrinsically involved in Kansas agriculture.
