Board Meeting Purposes (cont.)

• Special Meetings may be called to deal with district business that can not wait until next regular meeting.
  – State reason for declaring meeting.
  – Only the specific business for which the meeting was called can be discussed.
  – All other requirements for regular meetings apply.
Open Meetings Act Provisions

• As a political subdivision of the state and an entity which receives or expends public funds, each conservation district must comply with the Kansas Open Meetings Act (KOMA).

• The purpose of KOMA is that “a representative government is dependent upon an informed electorate…”

• The intent of having open meetings is so that the people represented by the conservation district board always have an opportunity to attend a meeting in order to be more knowledgeable in district operations.

- Board meetings must be open (and accessible) to the public, except for special circumstances as specified by law (executive session).
- Provide meeting notification/agenda to anyone requesting such notice.
- Telephone conference calls are allowed if the requirements of the act are met.
- Secret ballots are not allowed.

(cont.)

- Applies to conservation district meetings including informal discussions before, after, or during recesses.

- A meeting as defined by the statutes is:
  - a gathering, assembly, telephone call or any other means of interactive communication (including emails);
  - a quorum (applies to three board members discussing business); and
  - for the purpose of discussing the business or affairs of the body.

• KOMA requires a specific procedure which must be followed for an executive session.
  – Formal motion, seconded, and motion carried.
  – Motion must contain statement of
    • Justification of closure,
    • Subject(s) to be discussed, and
    • Time and place open meeting will resume.
  – Example motion: “I move we recess into executive session to discuss personnel matters of non-elected personnel in order to protect the privacy of the parties involved. We will reconvene the open meeting in the conference room at 8:30 p.m.”
Board Meeting Roles

• Chairperson:
  – Presides at meetings.
  – Calls special meetings when necessary.

Conducting Board Meetings

• Must have 3 board members (a quorum) present to transact business. Conference calls are legal as long as have speaker telephone available in a location accessible to the public.

• Must abide by KORA.

• Should have an agenda to follow.
  – Is a step-by-step order of points to be covered.
  – Serves as a guide to keep meetings in line with the purpose of the meeting, as well as the goals and objectives of the district.

(continuation)
Conducting Board Meetings (cont.)

• Most meetings are run on the basis of parliamentary procedure or Robert’s Rules of Order.
  – Parliamentary procedure is a set of rules for conduct at meetings.
  – It allows for everyone to be heard and to make a decision in an orderly manner.

• Making a motion:
  – A voting member makes a proposal that the board take certain action or a stand on an issue by stating, “I move we…”.
  – Another member expresses support for consideration of a motion by saying, "I second the motion."
    • Is not an indication that he or she necessarily favors the motion.

• Discussing/Debating a motion:
  – Every member has the right to speak.
  – Discussion must be germane to the motion.
  – Only one motion can be brought before the group at a time for consideration.
  – Motions may be amended by saying, “I move we make an amendment to the motion that…”.

Amendments must be seconded and voted on.

- Voting on a motion typically includes:
  - By voice: The chairperson asks those in favor to say “aye” and those opposed to say “no”. A member may move for an exact count or chairperson request vote be taken again and/or counted.
  - By show of hands: Members raise their hands as sight verification of vote with chairperson preceding the same way as by voice.

• By general consent: When a motion isn’t likely to be opposed, the chairperson says, “If there is no objection…”. Members show agreement by their silence. If someone says, “I object,” then put to vote.

• KOMA prohibits secret ballots.

• Productive Meetings:
  – A tentative agenda and other relevant information should be sent to all members prior to the meeting, so board members can come prepared.
  – Indicate an expected action for each agenda item, i.e., “for information,” “for discussion,” “for decision”.
  – Regular board meetings should be held monthly in order for board members to carry out their duties.

• Productive Meetings:
  – Set meeting ground rules.
  – Start on time.
  – Follow agenda and parliamentary procedures.
  – Set time limits for each activity.
  – Everyone participates, no one dominates the discussion.
  – Participants listen attentively to each other.
  – Assignments are summarized at end of meeting.
Meeting Minutes Basics

- Meeting minutes are important and must be kept for every board meeting.
- Minutes are a legal document of activity.
- Minutes capture the essential information—what took place including any resulting decisions.
- Minutes are meant to be an outline of what happened in the meeting with only the motions recorded verbatim.
- Minutes should be prepared soon after the meeting.
- Minutes are a permanent record and a public record.

(cont.)

Summary

Board meetings are essential to the operation of conservation districts. This is the only time the conservation district board members meet to take official actions to carry out the functions of the conservation district. These meetings must be open to the public and comply with the provisions of the Kansas Open Meetings Act (KOMA). For a conservation district to be effective, a board must have productive meetings. The minutes are the official record of the transactions and proceedings of the board.
