Frequently Asked Questions

Who is eligible to vote?

Anyone who is a resident of Kansas, has reached the age of 18 before the next election, and has been actively engaged in growing corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, sunflowers, or wheat within the preceding three years qualifies as a grower. Any grower who appropriately registers to vote may do so in an election for any commissioner representing that commodity and district where the grower maintains an official residence.

How do I register and vote?

- Fill out the voter registration form (to the right) or sign a valid candidate's petition.
- An election ballot will be mailed to you by January 15 of that election year.
- Return the completed election ballot by March 1 of that election year.

How can I become a commodity commission election candidate?

Contact the Kansas Department of Agriculture, or any of the five grain commodity commission offices (corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, sunflowers or wheat) for an official candidate petition form. Candidate petitions are due November 30, 2023.

Where can I get a registration form?

The Kansas Grain Commodity Commission Voter Registration is included in this brochure. Brochures may be obtained from the Kansas Department of Agriculture, or any of the five grain commodity commission offices (corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, sunflowers, or wheat). You may also register by signing a valid candidate petition form, or you may register online at:
